ELLAVILLE, GA, March 31, 1887.

My Dear Sirs—I have used your S. S. medicine with exceptional bunefit on patients convalescing from meanity.

Brighton, England. He inspected the principal nurseries there and made quite an extensive collection new to California. Thence he went to the island of Malta and made a large collection of plants and seeds. The climate of this island is very similar to that of California. From this place he went to Egypt. At Alexandrin several varieties of dates, etc., were secured. From Cairo and other points of interest in Egypt, Mr. West went to Smyrna, where over three months were spent in active investigation of the horticulture of that wasted one fruitful land. Upon his first trip into the interior the celebrated figs of Smyrna were just beginning to ripen. A number of the principal figgrowing districts were visited and a thorough examination made of the method of cultivation and manner of landing the crops. The olive orchards also came in for a share of attention.

After a two weeks' sojourn in the country Mr. West returned to Smyrna and spent about seven weeks in the packing-house, studying the methods employed in packing fruits for market.

S. S. medicine with exceptional bears on patients convalescing from mea-list on patients convalescing from the discussion from the discussion continues from four to the leaves the mucous membrane chromically infinemed—that is, the inflammation continues from four to six months. I have given it to several patients just getting out of bed from the measles, and always with the happiest results. It will, in my judgment, prevent summer dysentery, if one will take a few bottles in the spring, thus preparing the bowels for the strains of summer. I am prompted to send you this letter, because just now I am aware that measles prevail in Southwest Georgia While I hesitate to appear as a voucher of proprietary medicines. Besides, the claims of suffering humanity are greater than any send shout seven weeks in the packing-house, studying the methods of methods of the method of the embarvassment of the packing fruits for market.

Treside on Relieut continue of the strains of summer. I am prompted packing-house, studying the methods employed in packing fruits for market. During his first trip in the interior he had carefully marked the fruit-laden trees from which he wished to secure cuttings, and returning in November he took from trees previously marked 11,000 cuttings of the Smyrna fig of commerce, grown in the Erbella district; and also about 3,000 wild or male figs, and 5,000 of choice varieties of table figs. On this trip the curing and packing of Sultana raisins, then in progress, was carefully studied. As and salt. soon as the anthorities discovered that the object of Mr. West was to secure cuttings of the fig of commerce, they issued printed orders that no cuttings from this fig should be permitted cross the borders of the country. But Mr. West was not to be thwarted in the principal object of his trip by official orders, and hastily packing his cuttings move and met with complete success. This enterprise is by no means a small one to be undertaken and carried out by one nursery. Something of the extent of its cost may be judged from the fact that the cuttings of the Smyrna figulous cost over $500, exclusive of bribes and research to the cost over $500, exclusive of bribes and presents to those who assisted in procuring them. - From (Cal.) Repub-AMATEUR FARMING.
